1 THE DEPUTY CLERK: Good morning.

2 This is the Melville and Mullaney cases. Will 3 counsel please introduce themselves starting with the 4 plaintiff.

5 MR. McINTURFF: Good morning, your Honor.

6 This is Burkett McInturff on behalf of plaintiffs, 7 Melville and Mullaney and the proposed classes in both of those 8 cases.

9 And I also have with me on the line, my colleague, 10 Dan Brenner from Wittels McInturff Palikovic.

11 MR. SHUB: Good morning, your Honor.

12 This is Jonathan a Shub from Shub & Johns, along with 13 Samantha Holbrook from my firm. Together we represent 14 plaintiffs along with Mr. McInturff.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Now for the defendant's side.

16 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Good morning, your Honor.

17 This is Matthew McLaughlin, and I'm joined with Kevin 18 Saunders on behalf of the defendant.

19 THE COURT: Okay, so initially I scheduled this 20 status conference so I could check in with the parties about 21 discovery after receiving your joint status letter about the 22 status of ESI discovery and the privilege review, and then I 23 saw that there was a letter filed this morning by plaintiffs'
24 counsel relating to a pending settlement in the Callery case 25 and its potential impact on these cases.

1 So why don't I start by asking Mr. McInturff to give 2 me an update on the status of discovery generally, and then how 3 you think this new issue with the settlement impacts that.

4 MR. MCINTURFF: Okay. Thank you, your Honor. This 5 is Burkett McInturff.

6 In terms of the status of discovery, we had expected 7 this call today to cover three topics, which is the timeline 8 for the defendant to complete its document production, which 9 was supposed to be completed in April; getting depositions 10 scheduled. We have ten depositions that we've noticed and have 11 been trying to get things scheduled. And then extending the 12 August 9, fact discovery cutoff to account for the delays that 13 have occurred with defendant's slow document production. So 14 that's what we thought we would be talking about and still 15 think that's what we should talk about today. Instead, as 16 we -- as we noted in our letter, we found out from defense 17 counsel yesterday evening that the settlement that they 18 announced also yesterday afternoon in Callery seeks to 19 extinguish the Melville and Mullaney classes. Defense counsel 20 notified us on the call that he would be seeking a stay.

21 My first question was at least getting defense 22 counsel to recognize that even if defendant sought a stay that 23 no stay could be imposed unless and until the Court ordered 24 one, which he agreed, but in terms of the next steps related to 25 the Callery settlement, obviously, there is no stay application

1 pending. We will oppose any stay application.

2 As we said in our letter, we're evaluating our 3 options now, because, again, we learned of this settlement 4 yesterday evening. It's our position that the settlement is an 5 overt violation of the Court's interim class counsel order 6 which made it specific. It specifically appointed my firm and 7 the Shub & Johns firm to negotiate any settlement affecting 8 Melville and Mullaney.

9 Defendant has disobeyed that order and, you know, 10 quite frankly, we have never seen this before. We've never 11 seen a defendant settle a case out after interim class counsel 12 has been appointed. So we are researching the remedies because 13 between Mr. Shub's firm and my firm, we've never had this 14 happen.

15 But again, from our perspective, what we need to talk 16 about today is still getting a commitment from the defendant as 17 to when it's finally going to finish its document production, 18 setting a deadline for the defendant to schedule the 19 depositions we've noticed. Again, we've noticed depositions.
20 Defense counsel has told us that they're not available, but 21 they haven't scheduled them. So we need to schedule them, you 22 know, this week so that we can get them on the schedule, and 23 then we need to figure out how much time is needed to complete 24 fact discovery, which again, closes on August 9th.

25 It's plaintiffs' position before, before we learned

1 of the Callery settlement yesterday, we thought a reasonable 2 extension would be 90 days, which would allow us to take the 3 ten depositions, finish reviewing the million documents.
4 Defendant has produced over a million documents. So we would 5 complete our review of that in three months and then move on to 6 the next steps of the cases.

7 Obviously, with the additional motion practice that's 8 going to occur as a result of, you know, both the defendant's 9 anticipated stay motion and any motion practice we engage in as 10 a result of their violation of the Court's interim class 11 counsel order is going to require, likely substantial 12 additional resources and briefing so we believe at this 13 juncture probably it makes sense to extend the fact discovery 14 deadline instead of three months by four months, but a lot of 15 that depends on how quickly the defendant is going to -- you 16 know, do the discovery, undertake the discovery task it needs 17 to do, which is, again, finish producing documents and 18 scheduling the depositions that we've noticed.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Couple of questions for you.

20 First, what did you expect to happen after you were 21 appointed interim class counsel in terms of a potential 22 settlement in Callery?

23 With that in your pocket, what did you expect would 24 happen rather than what did happen?

25 MR. McINTURFF: Well, no, under the law when you're

1 appointed interim class counsel to represent a proposed class,
2 that no other counsel has authority to negotiate a settlement 3 of that class. We didn't hear any -- we were never advised the 4 settlement that the class was -- the class claims in Melville 5 and Mullaney were being -- attempting to be settled. It was 6 all done behind our back. So once we were appointed interim 7 class counsel, we expected, as we've maintained all along that 8 our case would be separate and severed from Callery and Callery
9 was more than welcome to settle the claims of the capped-price 10 customers that they brought. But we distinguished our cases.
11 We brought separate cases. So we didn't -- you know, once the 12 interim class counsel order was granted, we didn't have any 13 inclination whatsoever that the class that we were authorized, 14 solely authorized to negotiate for, would be settled behind our 15 backs.

16 THE COURT: So you would expect to at least initially 17 when you were briefing that motion, we had argument on it, 18 there were settlement discussions among all parties in all the 19 cases? So that didn't continue?

20 MR. McINTURFF: No, no. The settlement
21 discussions -- during that period, there was a global 22 settlement demand pending which was agreed to by all parties 23 and then the defendant never responded to that demand. And 24 then we learned -- we learned of the settlement which, 25 obviously, it's not consistent with the global settlement

1 demand that was outstanding. We learned of this $2 million 2 settlement yesterday.

3 THE COURT: And it's your understanding that this 4 proposed settlement doesn't carve out the claims that were 5 brought by the Melville and Mullaney plaintiffs.

6 MR. McINTURFF: Correct. In fact, it expressly 7 includes them.

8 THE COURT: Okay. And in terms of the deadlines that 9 you're seeking to extend, just remind me briefly. So August 10 9th was the fact discovery deadline. There was an ultimate 11 discovery deadline that had been extended by Judge Karas to 12 December.

13 Between August 9th and December, were there proposed 14 dates for a briefing of -- or not a briefing, but expert 15 discovery? Is that part of the plan that you'd have to try 16 to --

17 MR. McINTURFF: Correct.

18 THE COURT: -- (indiscernible) before the end of the 19 year?

20 MR. McINTURFF: Correct.

21 THE COURT: Okay. So the issue, at least with 22 respect to extending the fact discovery deadline, assuming we 23 get there, that's something I can do, but the problem is still 24 that under Judge Karas' case management plan, he still has the 25 ultimate say on whether your ultimate discovery deadline gets

1 extended beyond December 13.

2 So if I were to agree to extend your fact discovery 3 cutoff as much as you say, that would necessarily bump into 4 your expert discovery dates and, therefore, impact the ultimate 5 discovery deadline of December 13, which I'm assuming you also 6 would -- you would also be seeking to extend; am I right about 7 that?

8 MR. McINTURFF: Correct, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Right. So then essentially that means 10 that the request to extend these deadlines ultimately would 11 have to go to Judge Karas and not me. I don't control that.
12 You would have to make an application to Judge Karas to explain 13 why the ultimate discovery deadline needs to go beyond 14 December 13th, in light of everything you've said. I can only 15 manage sort of the interim fact discovery deadline for you. So 16 that's sort of the first thing.

17 The second thing is, in your mind, while this motion 18 to stay gets briefed, or there's other motion practice to 19 address the Callery settlement, in your mind, you'd want to 20 move forward with all the depositions and all the other 21 discovery that's contemplated, or was the idea that you wanted
22 this extension so that you had a breather while that motion 23 practice is happening but still have discovery deadlines on the 24 calendar?

25 MR. McINTURFF: No, no, no. We would need the

1 extension. Again, the issue was this document discovery should 2 have, should have, you know, been completed a while ago and it
3 hasn't been completed. But, no, we don't, we don't need a 4 breather. In fact, we want to complete discovery in this case 5 and continue to prosecute it as we've been doing.

6 We probably need additional time now because of the 7 additional motion practice that is contemplated, but, no.

8 THE COURT: Okay. But you want to move forward 9 with -- so the extension is both to address the fact that you 10 need more time just to complete fact discovery and also 11 building in extra time because of motion practice.

12 MR. McINTURFF: Correct.

13 THE COURT: Okay. So I'll turn to the defendants to 14 respond.

15 Mr. McLaughlin, are you speaking on behalf of the 16 defendant today?

17 MR. McLAUGHLIN: I am, your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

19 MR. McLAUGHLIN: I guess I'll go in order and respond 20 as my notes reflected Mr. McInturff's points.

21 With respect to the discovery, the only remaining 22 discovery is the linear privilege review that we are doing for 23 the documents that were withheld based on the searches we ran 24 in which we produced the millions of documents or pages of 25 documents to plaintiffs months ago. So that's the only

1 remaining piece of document discovery. We are, I think, about 2 two-thirds complete with that, but that is the only piece. We 3 are sending them on a weekly basis any documents, and there
4 aren't many, that after further review we determine are not 5 privileged. So this is a very, very small piece of the 6 document discovery that's left.

7 THE COURT: So when was that substantial production 8 completed? Maybe you were doing it on a rolling basis, but 9 before you started sending out documents that fell out of the 10 privilege review, is there a timeline for when that document 11 production had been completed?

12 MR. McLAUGHLIN: There was. I don't have it in front 13 of me but it was -- it was months ago.

14 THE COURT: Okay. So months ago you produced a 15 substantial portion of the documents. Since that time you've 16 been reviewing documents that were captured by the privilege 17 review and then producing on a rolling basis documents that 18 fall out of that review that you determine aren't privileged; 19 is that right?

20 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Exactly, your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Okay. And so what is the timeline then?
22 So I guess -- what is the timeline of that document production
23 being complete? I understand it's on a rolling basis but you 24 said you're two-thirds done.

25 MR. McLAUGHLIN: We had -- during out -- before our

1 last status update to the Court, we had estimated, based on the 2 progress by that point, to be -- have it complete later this 3 week. We were a little too aggressive in our estimation. So 4 we are probably weeks, at least three to four weeks away from 5 fully completing that linear review of the privilege materials.

6 THE COURT: Okay. So that means what date are you
7 estimating at this point to be done? And does that mean -- 8 will rolling productions be happening during those three weeks 9 or this is the last push?

10 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Well, yes. As we sit here today, we 11 are continuing the review and we will continue to make the 12 rolling productions.

13 But as Mr. McInturff alluded to, we will also be 14 seeking, and that was an issue I wanted to raise, a stay of 15 activity in Melville and Mullaney in light of the settlement, 16 which I can talk about now, or I can talk about later. But so, 17 you know, subject to that request, yes, we would continue our 18 review and production of those privilege materials.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And then in terms of getting the 20 depositions scheduled, which is the other issue that 21 Mr. McInturff raised, putting to one side the stay issue, what 22 has been the holdup in scheduling depositions? It sounds like 23 the bulk of the documents have been produced a couple months 24 ago.

25 So what needs to be done for depositions to be put on

1 the calendar, and can you explain any basis for the delays in 2 that regard?

3 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Sure. I was surprised to hear that 4 there's been delays. Mr. McInturff or Mr. Brenner literally 5 served us the notices last week for the first time for 6 depositions scheduled for this week and next week and so 7 without any consultation of availability. Now, they said in 8 their cover email that they would work with us on dates.

9 I reached out to them as part of call, our scheduled 10 call yesterday, to discuss dates. They, and I'm not blaming 11 them, because I also revealed to them that we have the 12 settlement, they weren't prepared to talk discovery in light of 13 the sort of the elephant in the room, the settlement. So we 14 just haven't had a conversation about scheduling and 15 coordinating depositions.

16 But I am prepared to do that. I'm not dragging my 17 feet on that. We just got the notices.

18 THE COURT: I see. Okay. I didn't understand that.

19 And then -- so tell me about the settlement and tell 20 me your position as to why it was negotiated so that it 21 subsumes the Melville-Mullaney cases, or at least tell me, is 22 that true?

23 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Sure. Yes. It is true. The 24 proposed class would cover the purported Melville and Mullaney
25 classes. But just for -- just for some context and to correct

1 at least one misstatement from my perspective that 2 Mr. McInturff relayed, back in -- while -- while the 3 plaintiffs' motion to be appointed interim class counsel was 4 pending, and then if your Honor recalls, we had a -- it was 5 preceded by a letter motion that we had a conference about it, 6 and then full briefing before the Court made a decision, the 7 parties, including plaintiffs in these cases and in Callery 8 were engaged in continued global resolution efforts with 9 Judge -- former Judge Diane Welsh of JAMS.

10 Those global settlement talks continued throughout 11 the early part of this year. We had a status conference in the 12 midst of the briefing on the interim class counsel motion with 13 the court in Callery. We informed Judge Rufe of our ongoing 14 global settlement talks, we informed Judge Rufe of plaintiffs'
15 effort in New York to be appointed interim counsel.

16 Their request, I would note, in their proposed order 17 wanted to give them sole settlement authority in the cases.
18 Your Honor's order didn't do that. Your Honor's order made no 19 such declaration, but Judge Rufe instructed us to continue to 20 work on global resolution, if possible, but if we weren't able 21 to do that, that we should try to resolve Callery. And so 22 that's exactly what happened.

23 We continued after that February conference to work
24 on a global resolution via Judge Welsh. At the end of April, 25 Mr. McInturff made it clear that he did not view our global

1 settlement discussions as ongoing.

2 Judge Welsh declared an impasse. The holdup, based 3 on, and it's in the plaintiff in Callery's motion papers, which 4 I will provide for the Court, was the holdup was New York
5 counsel. They essentially took themselves out of global 6 settlement discussions.

7 Only after that point, and only after that point, did 8 we pick up settlement discussions with plaintiffs' counsel in 9 Callery. We retained Judge James Giles, the former judge of 10 the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, who had previously been 11 appointed the Special Master by Judge Rufe in the Callery case 12 and who was familiar with the facts of the case in that role to 13 try to mediate a settlement in the Callery case and we were 14 able to reach a settlement after those efforts.

15 The settlement, I should note, is -- and I believe we 16 have related this to your Honor, but the settlement is 17 basically the remaining insurance proceeds from the insurance 18 policy that is available for funding the defense costs in this 19 case.

20 The defendant's financial position is dire. We 21 shared information with respect to its financial condition with 22 both plaintiffs' counsel in Melville and Mullaney, and 23 plaintiffs' counsel in Callery. We made no secret of the 24 situation that my client was in. The situation was only 25 getting worse as months passed, and the reality is, and as the

1 plaintiffs' Callery's forensic accountant expert report that 2 was filed in connection with the motion for approval papers 3 yesterday, indicates this is the -- this is really all that can 4 be used to fund the settlement, the remaining insurance 5 proceeds.

6 The settlement -- the insurance proceeds, are wasting 7 though. Every dollar that gets spent on continued defense
8 costs comes out of the settlement fund that would otherwise pay 9 the class members. So the resolution is for essentially HOP to 10 tender the remaining limits of the policy to settle the case.

11 But the notion that I violated or thumbed my nose at 12 this Court's order, I strongly reject that. We made every 13 effort to include plaintiffs' counsel in these cases in the 14 settlement negotiations. We invited them to join the original 15 mediation before Judge Welsh. We worked with them for months 16 and months after that and only when they -- they essentially 17 selected out of the continued negotiations did we move forward 18 with a Callery settlement. And there was nothing in your 19 Honor's order that purported to limit it anyway, the Callery 20 litigation, and it's -- I'm not disputing that Mr. McInturff or 21 Mr. Shub may not have dealt with this scenario before, but it
22 is not an unusual scenario that even when interim class counsel 23 is appointed in one case, that a settlement can be brokered in 24 another pending case, and that settlement is allowed to move 25 forward. And the case in which interim class counsel was

1 appointed, even if the settlement impacts those claims, there's 2 nothing improper about moving forward with settlement 3 discussions in a totally separate case.

4 So that's all that happened here. I mean, this was 5 not a -- this is not an effort to exclude New York counsel, 6 this was -- this was the result only after including them as 7 much as we could.

8 MR. McINTURFF: Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Let me just ask --

10 MR. McINTURFF: May I respond to this?

11 THE COURT: You can, but let me just ask
12 Mr. McLaughlin.

13 So did you -- what did you think was the import of 14 having Mr. McInturff and Shub & Johns, that those two firms be 15 appointed as interim class counsel? What did you think the 16 affect of that was?

17 MR. McLAUGHLIN: I understood, your Honor, that they 18 were appointed interim class counsel over the Melville and 19 Mullaney purported classes in these cases, but that that did 20 not impact the first filed, separate Callery case that was 21 proceeding -- they were not consolidated in any way.

22 These -- we're, obviously, not in the MDL. It was a 23 totally separate litigation and I did not view that order as 24 requiring me, for example, not to -- not to heed the directive 25 of Judge Rufe to continue to trying to work on a settlement of

1 Callery, if the interim class in Melville and Mullaney weren't 2 interested in further negotiations. So I understood that they 3 were appointed interim class counsel in Melville and Mullaney 4 but we -- it's not true that we are expressly wrapping into 5 Callery, Melville and Mullaney, it's we are settling the 6 Callery class as, you know, as was alleged initially.

7 It's the class that plaintiff in Callery asserted 8 years before the Mullaney case and a year and a half before the 9 Melville case was even filed. So that, in my view, is not 10 inconsistent with your Honor's order.

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 MR. McINTURFF: Your Honor --

13 THE COURT: Mr. McInturff, go ahead.

14 MR. McINTURFF: Yes, please.

15 And I'm also going to let my colleague, Mr. Shub, 16 intervene because he was dealing closely with Judge Welsh.

17 But if I could just correct some of the most 18 outlandish statements that defense counsel has made.

19 The first one being that they settled the class that 20 Callery initially pled. Callery pled an opt-out class of 21 Pennsylvania residents that sought to include any -- sorry, I 22 apologize, an opt-in class of non-Pennsylvania residents, so it 23 was a class of Pennsylvania residents, and then any other 24 resident from another state could affirmatively opt in. That's 25 the class that Callery originally pled.

1 Callery is also a capped-price customer. Defendant
2 moved to stay this case over a year ago claiming that the cases 3 were overlapping. Judge Karas denied that stay. It's 4 completely absurd to say that they're just simply settling the 5 original case that Callery brought.

6 Callery also spent two years trying to get back to 7 state court. You can't settle a multi-state federal class 8 action in state court. And the notion that we were -- that we 9 were invited all along to participate in their settlement is 10 completely ridiculous and, honestly, I have never heard such -- 11 such statements from a member of the bar. It really, really is 12 astonishing.

13 But I'll let Mr. Shub fill you in a little bit more 14 about what actually transpired here.

15 MR. SHUB: Hi, your Honor. This is Jonathan Shub.

16 So, I mean -- just take a step back. This is a 17 classic, classic reverse auction race to the bottom situation.
18 HOP knew that we were appointed, over their objections you'll 19 recall, appointed interim class in the New York cases.

20 It is true, your Honor, that we were participating in 21 settlement discussions. We, on behalf of the New York cases, 22 determined that the settlement funds that HOP was making 23 available was insufficient. It still is insufficient. HOP has 24 viewed this case as if the insurance policy is the outer bounds
25 of what they can pay in this case. That's an outrageous

1 assertion to begin with because their insurance policies have 2 no impact on their ability to pay. That's just what they would 3 like to pay.

4 So when the settlement negotiations broke down, they 5 then approached counsel in the Callery case, okay, in an 6 attempt to go around us, behind our back, and settle our cases
7 because we wouldn't agree to their lowball offer. Callery, 8 they found a very willing participant in the Callery counsel to 9 do that.

10 But in order to do that, they would have -- they had 11 to amend their complaint, come up with a new class, this was 12 not Callery's class as Mr. Burkett -- Mr. McInturff pointed 13 out. Judge Karas already rejected the fact that the Callery
14 class somehow overlapped and consumed ours. They have now made 15 the Callery class overlap and consume ours, because they 16 weren't happy that we didn't want to accept their lowball 17 offer.

18 Callery can do what they want in their case; that's 19 their business. We don't represent fixed-price customers, 20 Callery does. But for them now to come in here and say that 21 they can just flaunt an order by this Court that sought to do
22 exactly what we were seeking, that is to protect the New York 23 cases from being settled out from under our protections is 24 frankly outrageous. You know, this is not a situation where we 25 were all together and we decided to do this. They went behind

1 (inaudible) friendly counsel in a reverse auction. It's 2 classic.

3 And your order, your Honor, frankly, was rightfully 4 entered so as to try to prevent exactly what happened and we 5 find it to be, frankly, astounding that counsel would come in 6 here and somehow say that they didn't violate the order. And-- 7 it's really astounding to me.

8 THE COURT: All right.

9 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Can I respond, your Honor?

10 THE COURT: Yes. Go ahead, Mr. McLaughlin.

11 MR. McLAUGHLIN: So first of all, with respect to 12 this notion that Callery was a state court case, your Honor may 13 recall, this was raised early on in the motion for interim
14 counsel briefing and discussion. The attorney in the Callery 15 case advised both me and the judge that she would be amending 16 her complaint to comport with Rule 23, because once Judge Rufe 17 ruled that the case would stay in federal court, obviously, 18 Rule 23 applies and not state court rules, and your Honor 19 pointed that out on one of our last conferences.

20 The only reason that complaint was not filed 21 previously was because the parties agreed to preserve resources 22 while we were working on settlement, so the idea that this was 23 a last minute, let's turn this into -- from a state court case 24 to a federal case, is totally belied by the record in the case.

25 Secondly, Mr. Shub is not correct that we excluded

1 them in any way from the settlement. It is true that their 2 position was they didn't agree with the financial -- they 3 didn't agree with the consolidated financial statements in what 4 they said, for some unknown reason, but it is absolutely the 5 case that they were invited, that Judge Welsh tried to move 6 New York counsel from their settlement position in order to 7 continue the negotiations, and she declared an impasse as a 8 result of their failure to move any further.

9 So this was not a strategy by HOP. This was not a 10 strategy by Callery. We had no -- we had every intention of 11 trying to resolve this case globally. That's always been our 12 intention. It was only when it was made clear to us that 13 New York counsel was not willing to move from their settlement
14 position that we moved forward with trying to resolve Callery.

15 And from the plaintiffs' perspective in Callery, it 16 was because the funds available that would be distributed to 17 the class were continually being depleted by Mr. McInturff's 18 firm and Mr. Shub's firm in these litigations.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And was there any discussion in 20 settling Callery to carve out the Melville and Mullaney cases, 21 those classes?

22 MR. McLAUGHLIN: No, your Honor, because the Callery
23 claimant -- I think I've been consistent about this and I think 24 your Honor noted it -- the complaint as alleged -- from the 25 original complaint, it subsumed the defined Melville -- they

1 want to say it was a capped -- it's limited somehow to a capped 2 contract. The capped contract involved in Callery, the 3 plaintiff in that case, also has the prevailing, the prevailing
4 price concept, which is the exact claim that the Melville
5 complaint and the Mullaney complaint allege.

6 So, no, there was not an attempt to carve it out 7 because from the plaintiffs' perspective in that case, they 8 already filed a claim on behalf of those individuals.

9 THE COURT: Okay. Well, let's take, I guess, one 10 thing at a time.

11 The first thing is you'd like to -- you indicated
12 that you are hoping to move to stay. Is that right? Pending 13 the --

14 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Yes, your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay. So I guess first thing is it seems 16 to me that we need to set a briefing schedule on that. Again, 17 I'm not going to decide that just on this call, based on, you 18 know, an inclination that you plan to stay. So given all the 19 moving parts, what do you propose -- when would you -- what do 20 you propose or have the parties talked about what a briefing
21 schedule would look like? And I assume it would be expedited 22 in light of all the things that are going on in the case.

23 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Your Honor, we have not discussed -- 24 I have not discussed the schedule. On the call yesterday they 25 indicated they would not agree to a stay, but I am -- yes,

1 you're right, we would like an expedited briefing schedule, as 2 expedited as possible, because, again, every -- every 3 additional dollar spent comes out of the settlement fund. And 4 so we think it's important for a stay to be -- at least the 5 Court to hear the argument.

6 So, you know, I can -- I can file something as soon 7 as -- yeah, I could try to get it done today. I'd like, by at 8 least tomorrow to be able to file the motion, if that's 9 possible.

10 THE COURT: Okay. And Mr. McInturff, how long would 11 you want to respond?

12 MR. McINTURFF: Let me confer briefly with my team, 13 whose blood, sweat and tears would go into this.

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. McINTURFF: Hold on one second. Your Honor, I'm 16 going to confer off line, so I'm going to mute my phone.

17 THE COURT: Understood, go ahead.

18 (Pause)

19 MR. McINTURFF: So your Honor, we're talking the 20 defendants would file their papers on the 18th?

21 THE COURT: Yeah, I was going to say no later than 22 Friday, July 19th.

23 MR. McINTURFF: Okay. Well, so maybe ten days from 24 the 19th? I guess that's Wednesday, the 31st.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. McINTURFF: Actually, we have a filing in another
2 matter on the 31st. Could we do August 1?

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Your Honor, if I could just -- I
5 mean, that's not really expedited. That's not much different 6 than the normal motion Rule 6.1 under the Federal Rules would 7 provide. But if they need additional time --

8 MR. McINTURFF: With all due respect, your Honor.

9 MR. McLAUGHLIN: -- to stay -- excuse me.

10 MR. McINTURFF: Your Honor, this was sprung on us
11 yesterday. This -- we were not informed of any ongoing 12 settlement discussions. We were told yesterday that on a call 13 where Mr. McLaughlin emailed us and said, let's set up a call 14 to schedule depositions. And instead he opened the call with 15 we've settled your case out.

16 With all due respect, we didn't expect to be briefing 17 a stay motion when we got on the call yesterday at 5:30.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Well, so Mr. McLaughlin, what were 19 you saying?

20 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Could we at least have an agreement 21 that no depositions will take place or try to be scheduled in 22 this period while the briefing --

23 MR. McINTURFF: The law is clear, your Honor, that no 24 stays are imposed just because the defendant moves for a stay.
25 I mean, this is the reverse auction playbook. This is it.

1 They're doing every single thing that is in the playbook. Go
2 settle on the cheap, then move for a stay and grind everything 3 to a halt.

4 Judge Karas already rejected this ploy years ago.
5 The Court entered an interim class counsel order to avoid this.
6 We predicted it. Your Honor will recall that you asked 7 Mr. McLaughlin point blank whether he was going to reverse 8 auction this case and he equivocated. Your Honor noted that in 9 the interim class counsel order.

10 So we strenuously object to the idea that discovery
11 gets stayed while we brief their motion, which Mr. McLaughlin 12 agreed yesterday on the call is not the law in this circuit.
13 There's a law in this --

14 THE COURT: Your Honor, this McInturff --

15 MR. MCINTURFF: (indiscernible) no stay until the 16 stay is granted. And it's not going to be granted in this 17 case. This is a -- this is an attempt to extinguish more than 18 $100 million in liability that was taken from tens of thousands 19 of customers for $2 million in another case that has been 20 languishing in Pennsylvania for four years. That's what this 21 really is, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: So Mr. McLaughlin, Mr. McInturff is 23 proposing August 1. Would you need a reply? I'm assuming 24 you'd want a reply.

25 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Just, if I can -- your Honor, yes, I

1 would like at least a couple days to reply but I just -- he 2 started off this call explaining how they needed more time to 3 do discovery because of our alleged document production, and so 4 I just think this is bad faith to suggest that they're going to 5 move forward, where at the beginning of the call they were 6 looking for an additional 90 to 120 days in discovery, but now, 7 when presented with a motion to stay, they want to ram 8 depositions through in the next couple of weeks.

9 MR. MCINTURFF: No. That's not -- your Honor, if I
10 could correct --

11 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Could you stop interrupting me,
12 Mr. McInturff?

13 MR. MCINTURFF: No, no, no.

14 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Mr. McInturff, I didn't interrupt 15 you.

16 MR. MCINTURFF: Because you're misrepresenting --

17 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Stop interrupting me.

18 THE COURT: Counsel, we can't proceed if you all are 19 arguing over one another. I'll give you an opportunity to 20 speak.

21 So, Mr. McLaughlin, I understand your position. Your 22 view is there's no reason to rush depositions in this interim 23 period of briefing this motion to stay because you already -- 24 you still have more documents to produce and you're in the 25 process of negotiating deposition dates, or at least you only

1 got notice recently.

2 So your point is, as I understand it, that it's sort 3 of early in the deposition scheduling process in any case, 4 right?

5 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Yes.

6 THE COURT: So, Mr. McInturff --

7 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Or the schedule should be 8 abbreviated, if that's -- you know, if they won't agree, then 9 they shouldn't get ten days. They should have -- we should 10 have a real expedited briefing schedule.

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 Mr. McInturff, do you have anything more to say about 13 that?

14 MR. MCINTURFF: To respond, they produced millions of 15 pages of documents in May, in mid-May, is when we got their 16 production. We have been -- since that time we have been 17 working on a document production. Prior to that, they had 18 not -- they had not made a meaningful document production.

19 The idea that because we -- because I have a filing 20 in another case and need ten days for our team to respond to a 21 stay motion that they sprung on us requires us to do anything 22 in discovery differently than what we've been planning to do, 23 is simply unfair. The point is, look, if Mr. McLaughlin 24 can't -- we've accommodated defense counsel's schedule for 25 years now and been very lenient -- if they can't manage to

1 schedule a deposition during the briefing period, you know, we 2 will -- we will accommodate their schedule -- but, frankly,
3 this is a game they're playing. This is a game.

4 THE COURT: Let me -- I think I've heard enough to 5 sort of set down some deadlines and guidance about what comes 6 next. But before I do that, actually one other question.

7 Are there any other potential motions that anyone -- 8 so we're just dealing with the motion to stay; is that right?

9 MR. MCINTURFF: Well, we don't know -- again -- 10 again, Mr. Shub and I have collectively done class actions for 11 about 45 years, and we've never seen it where a defense counsel 12 violates an interim class counsel order and then -- and then 13 tries to settle the case out. So we are likely to engage in 14 some sort of motion practice.

15 We mention in -- we cited in our letter this morning
16 Judge Reyes' order in a -- in a class which we were -- my firm
17 was -- the case was certified against another energy company
18 like HOP, and my firm was appointed counsel and we had a 19 similar defendant that was suggesting they were going to 20 reverse auction our case and Judge Reyes suggested that if that 21 occurred, we would move for sanctions. So that's one thing 22 we're contemplating.

23 We also cited in our letter that there's a potential 24 to hold defendant in contempt of court, but again, we learned 25 about this as 5:30 right before I had to go pick up my kids

1 from school that this -- our case had been settled out from 2 under us. So we're doing research as to what the appropriate 3 response is.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Well, at this point you don't 5 have -- you're still working on what you want to do in terms of 6 further motion practice, but that's something you will address 7 with me shortly, it sounds like.

8 Okay. So let's -- so for the time being, let me 9 start at one issue at a time.

10 In terms of the outstanding document production which 11 relates to the privilege review, Mr. McLaughlin indicated that 12 that's nearly complete, so offset a deadline for that final 13 production to be made by August 9th.

14 In terms of a briefing schedule, let me say that we 15 were already talking about a briefing schedule for the motion
16 to stay by no later than Friday, July 19. The moving papers 17 will be filed and opposition will be filed by no later than 18 August 1st and a reply no later than August 8th. You're free 19 to file it before that date, that's just a no later than filing 20 date.

21 There will be no stay of discovery while the motion 22 is briefed or pending. Discovery will continue, which includes 23 the timeline of document production that I outlined August 9th.

24 Similarly, in terms of depositions, the parties 25 should continue in good faith to meet and confer and schedule

1 depositions. That doesn't mean they have to be scheduled
2 during the briefing of this motion for a stay, but the parties 3 should be endeavoring to get depositions on the calendar.

4 In terms of extending the fact discovery deadline, I 5 can agree to extend that deadline on an interim basis while 6 things are playing out for two months. So that would mean
7 August, let's see -- August 8th -- so I'll extend the interim
8 to, I guess, October 10th. But the understanding is that that 9 would necessarily bump up against the ultimate deadlines that 10 you currently have in your case, December 13th, unless the 11 parties could work out getting expert discovery done within 12 those couple of months.

13 So it will necessitate eventually going to Judge 14 Karas to extending our ultimate deadline if things continue in 15 litigation and there isn't a stay in the case. But I will -- 16 we can defer that to a later time while these other issues play 17 out.

18 Let me see if there's anything else that needs to be 19 addressed today. I don't think so.

20 Anything else that needs to be addressed today,
21 Mr. McInturff?

22 MR. MCINTURFF: Not from my perspective, unless 23 Mr. Shub or Mr. Brenner have other items.

24 No, they're shaking their heads. So no.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 Mr. McLaughlin?

2 MR. McLAUGHLIN: No, your Honor. Thank you.

3 THE COURT: Okay. And in light of the timeline in 4 this case, I will do everything in my power to get an answer to 5 the parties on the motion very quickly, so it doesn't undermine 6 the whole purpose of seeking a stay to begin with, so that 7 you'll know either way.

8 So then we will adjourn for today without setting
9 another conference date and I'll wait to hear from the parties 10 by motion.

11 Thanks very much.

12 MR. McINTURFF: Thank you, your Honor.

13 MR. McLAUGHLIN: Thank you, your Honor.

14 CERTIFICATE: I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and 15 accurate transcript of the recorded teleconference to the best of my skill and ability.
